Treasurer's Report: Marie went over the 2023 receipts and expenses.

President Report: Margie thanked everyone for their help and donations to the club.

Committees:

Rally Trial: Jackie mentioned that February 16 & 17th will be the trials. Jackie went over the details and asked for volunteers. There will be a special event for this trial, an honors course for dogs that have retired or have passed. Individuals can honor their past dogs by competing with another dog in their memory. There will be a $10 entry fee for the honors course.

Awards Banquet: Jackie said the awards banquet will be held at the club, Thursday, June 13th. March 15th is the final date to get your award information into the club.

Jackie saw an individual put their hand in the mailbox on the road and take items from the mailbox. We reported this to the police, and they recommended we get a locked mailbox. Check your check ledger amounts to see if the correct amount was taken from your checking account.

50/50 Raffle: Penney reminded everyone of the raffle.

Wall Plaques: Peggy Stevens reminded everyone to get their titles into her by March 15th to add your dog's title on the plaque. You can send an email with attachments to her or leave in her mailbox in the office or give to her at a meeting. Titles are from January – December 2023. AKC Titles only. Traveling trophy: Laura Steidl stated that there are several awards available, and the forms are found on the website. Deadline must be postmarked by May 9th or email May 11th midnight.

Training: Marianne Laird stated that we need six more individuals to help with training assistance for family dog training classes.

Legislative: New Hampshire proposed brachiocephalic dog breeders as animal cruelty for breeding and will want to prosecute breeders that breed them. ## BOARD MEETING MINUTES – January 17th, 2024

Attendees: Margie Holman, Marie Murphy, Penney Garbe, Barb Hoffman, Jackie Kobierecki, Kayla Baudhuin, Tracey Rymer

Secretary report: No report

Bocskor, Erin

Hoh, Penny

Holzheu, Sarah & Chris, Jackson, Corah

Hughes, Aydan & Kimberly Massey

Kolb, Lori

Koszalinski, Kelly & Dan

Peters, Wayne & Ann

Sexmith, Barb & Steve

Vosters, Andee

Barb read the new members to the board for approval.

Board approved.

Marie mentioned we only had 10% of last year's membership not renew which is very low.

Committees:

Jackie reviewed the recognition awards and asked the board if we wanted to change from the plaque to another award such as wine glasses. The board agreed to keep the plaques.

The tape used at the Winter Show was very difficult to remove from the floor. Margie will ask Chelsea Wood if the tape could be used for agility. If Chelsea cannot use it, then the tape will be donated to the membership.

Hannah Ralston is willing to do a Junior Showmanship seminar for the club. Further information will be coming soon.

The Pee Wee event at the Winter All Breed Show was a fantastic event.

The floor has not been cleaned well after classes so the board discussed asking for volunteers to vacuum at 8:30 PM or 7:00 AM and volunteers will receive one hour volunteer hour. This will be listed in the newsletter. Kayla will be the contact person for this.

The board asked Kayla to ensure that survey's are given after class and then summarized to review.

Margie will announce at the membership meeting that an individual membership is only for an individual not others in the family or a guest.

Margie asked for a motion to end the meeting.
Respectfully submitted,

January 2024 Winter Show

Natural Light Dog Portraiture

A very long time ago, I sat with my father in his photo dark room at Camp O-Tahn-Agon as he magically made the black and white photos of the campers appear from his negatives. He was the camp photographer for many summer seasons, and he was very talented. My love for photography began in that dark room. Although my dad never took dog photos, I learned the basics of photography from him. I hope that in sharing the following you will be able to start taking photos of your dog with a little different "eye". They are beginning thoughts but wonderful to revisit. For those of you submitting photos to TNT, I hope the following will be helpful.

I will not be talking about how to set your camera and what lenses to use etc. but addressing some guidelines to consider for a pleasing photo. Many of you will be taking photos with your I phone, and the result is quite good.

- 1) Always think about your background. Photos are not necessarily better if you place your dog in front of a busy flower garden or a background of trees and shrubs. You want to choose a neutral background free of objects. I like to take photos near a river or on a dock. Crazy good photos happen if you can also blur the background in these settings. I can't tell you how many times you see a beautiful photo of a dog and in the background is an ugly trash can or fire hydrant. You have also seen trees and objects coming out of the dog's head. Look at whatever might compete with your lovely dog and search for an area free of clutter and with some interest.
- 2) Nothing equals a dog photo taken next to beautiful structures such as an old barn with texture, or an old brick building. These things will add interest to the photo and not take away. Experiment with some of these things and you will be pleased.
- 3) It's really all about the light! My favorite time to take photos is on a cloudy, moody day. You will get soft shadows that compliment your dog. Try not to take photos on a bright sunny day. The image will be harsh and create severe shadows. Late afternoon can be a great time for a pretty photo. When you start thinking "light", you might try side lighting your dog or have the light striking from behind as in the sun setting. This creates a very dramatic image. It takes time to know your light situations but try to incorporate correct lighting.
- 4) Know the correct breed type and position your dog to show this. Also bring out your dog's best features. If that feature is a dark eye, or a pretty ear set, then capture this or if your dog has a beautiful arch of neck, show this. No dog is perfect, but they all have their good points.
- 5) Take "honest" photos. Nothing is worse than taking a photo that really doesn't look like your dog. Please don't edit your photo to make the dog look like some ideal dog that you've seen in life or in your mind.
- 6) Make your dog's personality shine! You might capture your dog looking at the birds above or sitting with his favorite toy.
- 7) Along with "light", always think "focus". You want your dog to be in complete focus. If you are shooting with your camera, focus on the eyes. I won't go into camera settings at this time, but you do want correct camera settings to achieve this.
- 8) Take many photos to get the "one" perfect shot. Try, try again until you do!
- 9) Be patient with your dog and if you are having a hard time, stop and come back to it another time.
- 10) Have help from a friend. A friend can bait your dog to help show ears and neck etc. I love to have a friend walk away or to get interest by saying a word that the dog knows. All of this helps to show ears, expression, and personality.
- 11) A good photo will seldom need much editing. If you do edit, crop, and perhaps do a one-step focus in your editing program. Too much editing will ruin your image. Again, you want to show your dog in the most honest way. Also, an image will usually look more interesting if you crop into the dog and eliminate physical distractions.

Natural Light Dog Portraiture continued

12) Once you have taken your favorite image, send it to a friend you trust for feedback.

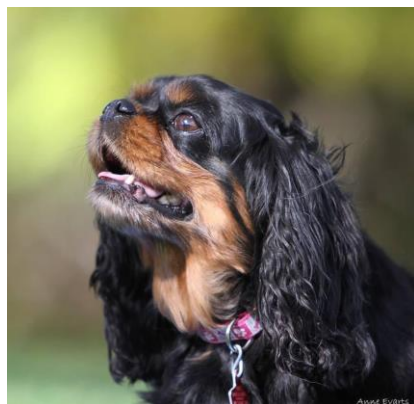

13) If you can achieve most of these things that I have mentioned, your photo will be ready for printing or for publication.

14) One last thing - don't be afraid to experiment. Film does not have to be developed and today images can be deleted on your phone or camera.

15) If you become a serious photographer study images taken by people that you admire. You might also take an online course or class. There is always something to learn and learning never stops! Most importantly, have fun!

Heidi – A Perfect Dog

Heidi came to us as a rescue brought up from Tennessee. We had lost our Basset Hound Gunter, the week before, and our remaining basset Wulfgang, wouldn't eat. A friend posted her picture to my Facebook page, saying that she knew it might be too soon, but that she had just come up and the rescue wanted her to go to a home that knew bassetts. They said she was around 4 and was very skittish and didn't want to go near any of the people at the rescue. I saw her picture, and that was it.

We went to see her that night, they brought her in, I sat on the floor, and she ran to sit in my lap. She was on a surgery hold for two more days and we brought her home as soon as it ended. She had never been in a house before, I had to carry her over the threshold as she shook in my arms. She quickly learned that food was plentiful, couches were for sleeping on, not all men were scary, and the people we introduced her to were loving and kind. She loved getting belly rubs and would flop on the couch or the floor so you could oblige. She was absolutely perfect.

We trained together to be a hospice therapy team, and she loved going to comfort people. We did library programs where the kids read to her, and she loved that more – she adored children. We would go to rescue events so she could show people how wonderful a basset could be. She helped us train every dog we brought home and ruled them all with an iron paw. She was smart and funny and very much a basset hound. We all loved her. She stayed with us almost 11 years and left for the bridge the day after Christmas. She is forever loved and missed.
